

Counselor's Corner

The #1 Teacher for Your Child is YOU!

EVES

“Sun-sational
Success—
Nothing Less”

Cindy Heady

EVES Counselor
852-7350

When it comes to a child's life they are only in school 15% of their waking hours and the rest of the time they are with you, parents. This means that you are truly your child's most significant teacher!! Here are a few things that you may want to try to help make your child's educational experience meaningful. When it comes to reading, have then entire family reading, make sure your child sees you read, go to the library if possible, and read in different locations. Everything in school is related to reading so make it fun and interesting so that your child understands the importance of reading. Parents may also try playing learning games like a synonym game, shape scavenger hunt, or comic strip stories. All these games will build on skills that your child will cover in class. Lastly, you are also your child's number one cheerleader!! Make sure they know you love them and always have time for them. You are their #1 teacher in many different ways!!

